Pennsylvania State Police Looking for Farm Show Shooting Suspect

Harrisburg – The Pennsylvania State Police are asking for the public's assistance in locating 62-year-old Beau Gaylord Robinson, a suspect in a shooting this morning in the parking lot of the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Robinson is described by police as a white male, approximately 6-feet tall, weighing 210 pounds with brown eyes. He is possibly driving a maroon 2002 PT Cruiser bearing Missouri registration UF4T1E or a white 2005 Cadillac bearing Missouri registration CA8T3V.

Anyone with information is asked to call 911. Do not attempt to approach or stop the individual.

Robinson could possibly be traveling with Austin and Ashley Barrett, all from Springfield, MO, police said.

At about 10:44 a.m. today, security at the Pennsylvania Farm Show complex was notified of a shooting in the parking lot at 2300 N. Cameron St., Harrisburg.

A Harrisburg City police officer responded to the scene and discovered a female gunshot victim. The shooting victim was removed from the scene and transported to a local hospital for treatment. Her condition is not known. Police believe the assailant knew the victim.

Pennsylvania State Police, Troop H Harrisburg, responded to the scene as well as members of the Pennsylvania State Police Special Emergency Response Team (SERT).

Upon searching the recreational vehicle, where the shooting took place, the SERT members discovered the suspect was no longer in the vehicle.

The Dauphin County District Attorney's office, Harrisburg City Police and Capitol Police are assisting with the incident. Additional information will be released as it becomes available.
