Section 35.384(b) of the State Real Estate Commission's regulations authorizes the Commission to require licensees to complete a required course in order to satisfy the continuing education requirement. The Commission has determined that such a course is warranted for salespersons holding standard licenses in their first biennial period where continuing education is required. As a result, any licensee who holds a standard salesperson's license issued between 12/1/09 and 11/30/11 must complete this required course in order to renew his/her license by 5/31/12.

The required course is broken into three separate 7-hour modules: a general module, a commercial module, and a residential module. Licensees must take the general module as well as the one specialty module (commercial or residential) most applicable to their practice. Please contact real estate education providers directly for scheduling and pricing of courses.

It is the responsibility of individual licensees to meet the continuing education requirements and to know if they must take the Commission-developed courses.
